Collaborative Leadership: Creating Collective Understanding in the Midst of Chaos, Confusion & Conflict

A two day trans-disciplinary workshop for leaders and change agents

“If you find what you are doing each day seems to have no link to any higher purpose, you probably want to rethink what you are doing... To practice leadership you need to accept that you are in the business of generating chaos, confusion and conflict.”

~Ronald Heifetz

“Non-complex thinking is one of the forces of destruction of humanity. Promoting understanding between people is the condition and guarantor of the intellectual and moral solidarity of humankind.”

~ Edgar Morin

You are invited to join us this November for an exploration of collaborative leadership aimed at increasing our collective capacity to move with grace, power and confidence in a world that seems to become more chaotic and confused and filled with conflict with each passing day.

What we will do

• Explore the role of Collaborative Conversations as pathway for integrating our full humanity into our daily workplaces.

• Inquire into how we can become better allies to those whom we might tend to label as “other.”

• Delve into how, by working on behalf of a larger purpose, we can engage in more effective learning and action conversations to produce tangible results while creating greater understanding and effectiveness in our organizations, with our clients and in our communities.

Who will benefit from attending

Business and community leaders, organizational consultants, educators and coaches are the primary audience for this workshop. However, anyone who wishes to improve their collaboration skills for working with groups, teams and organizations will leave greatly enriched.
